FEARLESS
FLINDERS UNIVERSITY
INTRODUCTION
The new Flinders University brand platform, Fearless, is a bold new position for the institution. This will be brought to life through a brand voice and visual identity that builds on the brand’s key strengths, while introducing new elements to ensure cut-through and differentiation in market.

The following is the toolbox for Fearless, with initial rules and guidelines for applying the new identity visually, and reflecting the brand tone through our voice. Importantly, this is not about defining every layout or piece of copy. It is about establishing a flexible platform with strong foundations, ensuring adaptability and cohesion across the diverse requirements of the institution.

This document will continue to evolve and develop as we collectively roll out the Fearless brand platform, identifying opportunities, troubleshooting, optimising and building a suite of assets that reflect our singular position.
NARRATIVE
Flinders University was founded in an era of profound social, political and technological change, when longstanding conventions were being challenged by a new generation of ambitious young thinkers.

A product of these times, we have always been ready to step away from the security of the familiar and forge new ways forward. From the ambition of our namesake, to the charge of our founding Vice Chancellor, this appetite for exploration is ingrained in our DNA.

It has shaped our world-class curriculum, and the physical and online environments we live, learn and work in. Vibrant spaces enable new connections between academics, students and industry, giving rise to innovative, agile hubs that can quickly adapt to new challenges and opportunities.

Brave research is the beating heart of our university, the purest expression of our desire to discover, our ability to solve, and our commitment to driving the new knowledge economy. Shaped by the social, economic and scientific challenges of today, our research connects with business, government and the community to deliver real-world outcomes that will be felt at home and across the globe for generations.

Reaching beyond the limits of buildings, borders and backgrounds, ours is an inclusive culture that believes absolutely in equality and opportunity for all. We don't just accommodate differences; we embrace and celebrate them. We support and empower our people, giving rise to healthier societies and empathic leaders who look towards an unpredictable future with confidence and optimism.

Our students have a voice, their opinions are respected, and their success is paramount. When you belong to this kind of community, the future looks brighter. Uncertainty becomes opportunity. You can be bolder, reach further and dare more.

Who we are and what we believe has never mattered more than it does right now. Our legacy, our values, our vision for tomorrow speak precisely to the challenges of today. We don't simply survive in testing times, we thrive in them. We don't resist change or fear disruption, we embrace it. Work with it. We adapt and evolve. We discover, we create, we share.

We are Flinders. We are Fearless.

All messaging sits under our overarching position; Fearless.

The below details how we express Fearless as a call to action for different cohorts and audiences.
03. USING FEARLESS IN COPY
When using Fearless in defined headlines or subheads, the 'F' in Fearless should be capitalised.

Examples:

— Flinders. Fearless.
— We are Flinders. We are Fearless.
— Be Fearless.
— Find your Fearless.

When using fearless as a descriptor in body copy, rather than as a brand statement, it should be lowercase/sentence case.

Examples:

— We are fearless in the pursuit of knowledge.
— We are fearlessly embracing the future.
— Researchers tackle problems with a fearless mindset.

05. TYPOGRAPHY
LL Circular is a geometric sans-serif font family in multiple weights. LL Circular offers a fresh take on the genre of the geometric grotesk.

A geometric sans serif that marries purity with warmth and strikes a balance between functionality and aesthetics.

This font should always be used.
Enabling our future growth and providing a great campus experience in a globally competitive precinct.
The Flinders URL has been built as a vector asset to be applied to artwork as needed. This is a clean, clear & bold call to action that complements all required layouts.

When adding the Flinders URL, please use the supplied vector file. If this isn't possible follow these simple formatting guides.

- 60pt Tracking

- Add stroked underline

   This font should only be used if LL Circular and DM Sans is not available.

   Arial is a Microsoft font that is automatically installed on all of its programs. Avoid using unless completely necessary.
06. BRANDMARK
The Fearless typographic mark is a bold, dynamic word-mark designed for cut-through in launching the brand position. It has been designed to be used for key pieces of campaign collateral, when leading with “Fearless”. This is a piece of custom typography, and is not to be edited or used for other words. It is not to be used where “Fearless” is secondary to the communication, such as course-specific comms, or where there is substantial copy. In these cases, Fearless should appear as in our regular brand font (Circular). This asset will be supplied as a vector file to be placed on artwork.
THE DO'S

Fearless brandmark to be ‘ducked’ under figure using Photoshop. Letters ‘R+L’ are the preferred location for ducking. Additional shading to be applied to edge of portal to increase the sense of depth. Fearless brandmark to sit above the border of the portal.

THE DO NOT’S

The Fearless brandmark should always remain readable. Do not place the Fearless brandmark too far under the figure.
When overlapping the brandmark with a subject, use this guide to measure the appropriate level of overlap coverage. 10-20% is the optimal range however, this is heavily image dependent and requires a thoughtful approach to layout, image choice & design.

As a guiding principle, the legibility of FEARLESS is Paramount.

- Never cover the letter R so that the brandmark reads FEARLESS.
- Never cover the letter I so that the brandmark reads FEARLESS.
Alternative brandmark usage.

Where appropriate (right format, right photo etc), the Fearless brandmark can be placed over a subject with no image ducking for maximum boldness.

- Ensure to darken the image underneath the brandmark to increase readability (never drop shadow).
When Fearless is being used as a CTA with the brand mark (i.e. Find your Fearless), Circular should be used as the supporting font. The text size for the copy accompanying “Fearless” should be bigger than the sub copy (i.e. “Apply for study in 2022”) to ensure a hierarchy of messaging.
For study area communications, where the Fearless brand mark is not applied, Circular should be used for headlines.
THE FEARLESS PRISM
We have developed a simple, iconic, brand device for greater impact and cohesion across executions.

The "Fearless Prism" builds from Flinders’ most unique visual asset – Flinders Gold. It is an abstract expression of the qualities of Fearlessness: confidence, simplicity, adaptability.
PRISM
A platform to elevate

PORTAL
A portal to invite exploration
PRISM V PORTAL - Line up

Prism (In-Situ)

Prism (In-Post)

Portal
Prism in-situ

The Prism is a specifically manufactured object, created for key campaign photography assets. The prism in-situ has a ratio of 9:16.

— It is always positioned vertically, never horizontally.
— It should be photographed front on, without showing the sides.
— It should always sit behind the subject.
— The subject can break the edges of the Prism for a more dynamic composition.
— The subject should never be positioned right against the Prism.
— The subject should never be positioned too far from the Prism so the Prism is significantly obscured.
Prism in post
When adding a Prism in post;

— This should only be done where there is a clear hero subject in the photograph. It is not to be used in detailed or complicated shots, for example wide landscapes.
— Always vertical, never horizontal.
— Prism in post should always be centred to layout frame.
— Equal distance should be given to negative space left and right.
— Prism ratio should be based on 9:16 but can be altered to optimise the layout.
— Preference should be visual impact and cohesion over strict adherence to ratio.
— Prism should be proportional to the subject, using the in situ prism as a guide, while considering the layout and medium.
Example A

Example B
Portal
The Portal is to be used when there is photography or artwork that does not include the Prism. It should never be used in conjunction with the prism.

The Portal uses a grid based system. It does not always need to be placed in the center if this is not optimal for the photograph, size or design layout. However, at minimum, the Portal width should be one grid block on each side, ensuring it remains as a border/framing device.
In cases where we cannot use the Fearless type graphic or the prism/portal due to restrictive frame sizes in digital display ads, full bleed image with a strong colour blocked base plate is preferred. Fearless photography should be used wherever possible.

Headline text can become more dynamic if required.

Fearless brandmark to be ‘ducked’ under figure. Letters ‘R+L’ are the preferred location for ducking making sure the ‘R+L’ are still clearly readable. Fearless brandmark to sit above the border of the prism.

The Fearless brandmark should always remain readable. Do not place the Fearless brandmark too far under the figure. Do not make the prism too large in proportion to the size of the image and billboard dimensions.

11. EXECUTION EXAMPLE GUIDES RESEARCH
‘Brave Minds’ will continue to be used for research, but will be underpinned by the Fearless brand style.

- Previous Brave Minds Creative.
PHOTOGRAPHY GUIDE
When shooting a subject with the prism in-situ, follow these tips for the best result.

- Always shoot the prism front-on so that the prism appears square to frame.
- The subject CAN be shot from a slightly lower angle if a more dynamic image is required.
- Never allow the sides of the prism to be visible.
- Always shoot wide/landscape as an essential option. You can always tighten the crop in post. You CAN shoot portrait & close however, a wide/landscape is more versatile in usage.
- Avoid having the subject too close to the prism, this creates undesirable shadows.
- The subject’s distance from prism is heavily dependant on the subject’s height and should be considered case by case.
- The subject’s head CAN protrude above the prism.
- The subject CAN break the frame of the prism.
- Avoid shooting the prism with a flat background as this creates a flat on flat shot. In these cases, angle the prism to the background, however this still needs to be shot with the photographer front-on to the prism.
- Lighting should be considered case by case, it will be different for each environment.
- Don’t shoot wider than 35mm (50mm ideal to still show the space around the subject).
- Allow space between the prism and subject so your light source still lights the prism evenly.
- If using artificial light don’t shoot straight on creating shadows on the prism. Shoot lighting from the side.
- If shooting low you may have to straighten the prism lines slightly with keystone in post.

These examples are incorrect for the following reasons:
- Subject too close prism causing undesirable shadows.
- Prism is not shot front on causing it to look skewed to frame.
- Images should be shot further away to get more background into frame (Cropping can be done in post).
People are to be shot with purpose and boldness. Posed in positions of strength, looking down the lens without fear.

When not shooting locations, create colour blocks, further emphasising a deliberate sense of resolve and focus.
When highlighting specific study areas or outcomes, shoot people in their study environments or out in the field. But rather than “candid” snaps, to articulate that knowledge brings power, we’ll bring a sense of fearlessness through a direct acknowledgement of the camera.
Shoot Flinders buildings and facilities with the same sense of deliberateness, using unexpected angles and framing.
As well as being visually arresting, this approach is a challenge to look at the world differently, as you do when you’re fearless.
Wide shots will emphasize space, distance and possibility, with deliberate framing, strong horizontal lines and generous sky.

Tighter shots will be framed with foreground elements to create a sense of depth and looking further.
